

Are you looking to improve your gardening skills?

Consumer horticulture workshops are presented by North Carolina State Extension Master Gardener Volunteers in Surry County who have an expertise in specific horticulture areas. These educational workshops are compiled of research based information along with experience from individual speakers. The workshops are open to the public. All meetings will be held at North Carolina Cooperative Extension-Surry County Center (210 N. Main Street, Dobson) unless otherwise noted. Workshops listed with * offer pesticide credits to licensed pesticide applicators. If you would like to register for a workshop, please call the Extension Center at (336) 401-8025.
